The Main Gate is one of the most distinguishable symbols of the University. It is ornamented with a crowned eagle surrounded with five stars which symbolise the first five faculties of the University.

During World War II, Czesław Miłosz, a student of the University (in 1932), who was later to win a Nobel Prize for Literature (1980), worked at the Old Library as a caretaker.

The University's oldest building was constructed before 1643. It was initially the summer residence of the kings of Poland: Władysław IV, Jan Kazimierz, who gave the palace its name, and Jan III Sobieski.

In the library, there is one of the largest collections of academic volumes in the country as well as one of the biggest and most beautiful roof gardens in Europe. The garden is divided into two parts: the upper and the lower, joined by a cascading stream. The upper garden is open to the public from April to October; the lower garden is open all year round.

The Column Hall is the most lavish place in the Former Museum Building. It is open for guests every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Fryderyk Chopin, the most famous Polish composer, lived in the Former Rectory Building with his parents and sisters. He was a student of the Main School of Music, the part of University.

In the first part of the 20th century the St. Roch Hospital served as an actual city clinic.
